Masonic Hall Request Stirs Controversy

Application of the Orinda Masonic Building Association for a permit to build a Masonic Hall next to the new St. Stephen's Episcopal Church set off a round of dispute this week.

After a hearing Tuesday night marked by spirited pro and con discussion from the audience, the County Planning Commission decided to visit the site beforé arriving at a decision.

The application, filed by R. E. Wadsworth of the building and land committee of Orinda Lodge 704, F&AM, asks for an okay for construction of a Masonic Hall with off-street parking, on a portion of Lot 1, Rancho El Sobrante, bounded on the east by Honey Hill Road and Charles Hill Road, on the south by East Bay Municipal Utility District property and on the west by St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Objection was voiced at the hearing by Frank Van Gilluwe, president of the Monte Vista Improvement Association, and William H. Jones.

Arguments in favor of the request were offered by Attorney Vernon Patterson, junior warden of Lodge 704, and George N. Jensen of the lodge's building and land committee. Wadsworth was away on a trip and so could not be present.

SPEAKING FOR the building association, Jensen told of the plans for a one-story, rustic-exterior structure containing 4000 square feet of floor space and set back 100 to 150 feet from Honey Hill Road.

Below the lower portion of the building there would be off-street parking space. Screening, a patio in back and landscaping are further details contemplated in the project.

VAN GILLUWE presented a protest signed by 32 property owners. A letter signed by Gilluwe as head of the Monte Vista group accompanied the petition.

Jones then stated he had just purchased a lot across the road

Civic Affairs Committee Recommends Revision of County Zoning Ordinance

The Orinda Civic Affairs Committee Monday night recommended that the County Board of Supervisors be petitioned to change or revise the present County Zoning Ordinance.

The recommendation came after Joe Creighton, a member of the Orinda Planning Committee, reported on the recent controversy over a request by E. E. Nicolai to construct a greenhouse on his property in the Glorietta area.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S office ruled before the County Planning Commission that no permit was required for greenhouse operation in a residential-agricultural (R-A) zone as long as the product is not sold commercially on the premises.

Creighton moved that the supervisors be petitioned to revise the ordinance to require a land use permit for commercial, agricultural or horticultural activities in an R-A zone.

According to Creighton, the present zoning laws are quite ambiguous and the district attorney could have interpreted it differently "if he had wanted to."

CREIGHTON ADDED that he did not think anything could be done about the Nicolai matter unless someone wanted to raise funds to appeal the decision in a higher court, but that he did think something should be done to prevent such occurences in the future.

He then made the motion and it was passed unanimously. It will be recommended to the Orinda Association Monday night that directors take action.

In other business Chairman Frank Hart notified the group that Donn Sigerson, chairman of the Orinda Planning Committee, will be in the east for about six months and had asked to be relieved of his duties.

Hart appointed Creighton chairman. Sigerson was not present.

NOMINEEES FOR CHAIRMAN of the Civic Affairs Committee for the coming year were named and included Ramsay Underwood, Creighton and James D. Korne.

Nominees for directorship of the Orinda Association included Hal Neeland, offered by Orinda Oaks Association; and Frank P. Fuller, proposed by Moraga Woodlands.

The Sleepy Hollow Improvement Association proposed five nominees, including W. H. Hanford Jr., Nels Hamberg, Joseph Nicolet, Berton Kohler and Robert L. Boyle.

All nominations must be submitted to the Orinda Association by Monday night. The final list of nominees will be cut to two candidates for each vacancy before elections are conducted.

There are five directorships open.

Rotary to Hold Joint Meeting

The Orinda Rotary Club Wednesday heard Art Lonergan speak on "Investments" at its meeting at the Orinda Willows at noon.

Program Chairman was Jim Kral.

Lonergan pointed out that only six per cent of the American people invest in common stocks, and that only one person in seven has over $250 in capital at the age of 65.

Next meeting will be Monday at 12:15 at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. It will be a joint meeting between the Orinda, Albany and North Oakland Rotary Clubs.

The speaker will be Yacub Kar Kar, who will discuss the Palestine question.

Western Union Opens Branch at Worden Agency

Orinda now has full Western Union service at its own Western Union station.

Culminating seven years of effort by Bill Worden of the Worden Travel Agency at 9 Moraga Highway, Western Union installed its printer at the travel agency on September 14.

The agency staff was personally instructed by William Abel, Western Union district manager.

The first message, an incoming one, was received September 16.

Worden said that Mrs. Anne Carlson of his staff will do most of the Western Union work at the agency. The Western Union phone number there is Orinda 8570.

DIRECT SERVICE from the agency can be obtained by phoning or by dropping in personally Mondays through Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

For service at other times those days or anytime Sunday, the Oakland office of Western Union should be contacted, as was the case until last week for all Orinda service.

"ESTABLISHMENT OF complete Western Union service here means more efficient and reliable service for Orinda residents," Worden stated this week.

"It also means that you can dial for Western Union (Orinda 8570), and you can now send money from Orinda.

"Incoming messages will be phoned to you promptly, and the services will be personalized so as to reach you through your neighbor if you do not have a phone.

"WORDEN TRAVEL Agency is now in the process of correcting our phone listing by streets. If you are new in Orinda or have a new phone, drop in to be sure you are listed correctly. If you do not have a phone, let us know the number of a neighbor's phone where you may be reached.

"Do this today. You can never tell when you might be the one that must be reached immediately.

"REMEMBER, call Orinda 8570 to send your wires. They may still be charged to your phone number."

Worden, who has been "plugging" for complete Western Union service in Orinda since 1946, recalled that the need for this service was pointed out a few years ago in news articles in The Orinda SUN.

The phone numbers for Worden Travel Agency remain the same as before — Orinda 2090 and 2118.

Worden also operates the Worden Travel Service at 1519 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, where Mrs. Peg Yeager is manager. The phone number there is YEllowstone 4-7444.

Kids Art Center Starts Program

Working sponsors of the Orinda Children's Art Center held their first meeting of the year at the home of President Mrs. Julian Unruh September 17.

Heads of sponsor committees are Mesdames Richard Tharp, Richard Copenhagen, Ben S. Olsen, Gerhard Burde, Edward A. Merrill, James E. Lindsay, N. S. Dodge, Carl Muerk, Charles Gibbs, Wellington J. Ray, Harold W. Hawes, George Clifford, J. P. Ratcliff, David Wallace, Ted Harrer, Kerry Keresy, Spencer Archer, Harry Oliphant, Nathan Gray and Kirk Miles.

The Orinda Children's Art Center was formed five years ago this fall at the suggestion of Superintenden of Schools Joseph Sheaff. Its purpose is to give greater artistic expression to talented children in the Orinda school system.

For five years, children with creative imagination and more or less skill have been taught at the school after school hours, first by artist Doris Fraser, lately by artists Doris Clifford and Jacklyn Muerk.

Exhibits of the children's work have been presented twice each year.

Sponsors of the Orinda Children's Art Center are interested people in the community who are willing to contribute five dollars in order that talented children may develop their abilities.

The money is used for art supplies and tools. Since the sponsors themselves are interested in art work, lectures and courses have been arranged for them from time to time, so during the last four years they, too, have been learning.

18 Year Old Will Filed by Widow

An 18-year-old will was filed Monday with the County Clerk's office by Florence Sullivan, widow of James E. Sullivan, 65, who spent his entire life in Orinda.

Sullivan left his estate, described merely as in excess of $10,000, to his widow who lives at 607 El Toyonal.

Sullivan, who died last July 24 at his home after suffering a heart attack, was the oldest Orinda native in point of continuous residence.

The Sullivan ranch house in which he was born still stands.

'Oneness Of God' Is Sermon Topic

"The Oneness Of God" is the sermon topic which the Reverend Edward R. Andersen, pastor of the Shepherd of the Valley Lutheran Church, 294 Orchard Road, has chosen for this Sunday, at the 8 and 11 o'clock services.

"God's people are called to maintain the unity of God's spirit in the bond of peace, for there is only one body and one spirit, which calls the Christian people to one hope, through the one Lord who is reached through one faith which is funded on one baptism, for there is only One God and Father of all," Andersen said.

Mrs. Jack Bowers, 53 Oak Drive, will be the guest soloist and Gil Rhodes will be the guest speaker at the Family Sunday School Hour at 9:30 a.m.

$22,250 Suit Is Filed Over Slide

A suit was filed in Superior Court for $22,500 September 18 by J. Davis Romine, who complained that excavating work done by his neighbor caused damage to his property.

Romine and his wife Francis, who live at 11 La Bolsita, brought the action against Sam J. Stewart and wife as owners of adjoining property: Lawrence Gamer, employed by Stewart to do the excavating, and others.

As a result of the excavating, the complaint alleges, the Romine property, and particularly the back yard, "were caused to slide and fall or settle, a distance of from 5 to 10 feet, and to slide in an easterly direction and across and onto the defendants' property, a distance of from 10 to 20 feet."

Romine said the excavating was done in 1950 and early 1951.

The complaint says that the Romines own Lot 25 and a portion of Lot 26, and the Stewarts Lots 23 and 24 in the Garden of Eden Tract.

Orinda Overpass Contract Awarded To Two Firms

The State Department of Public Works Wednesday officially awarded the contract for the construction of the Orinda Overpass to Frederickson & Watson Construction Company and M. & K. Corp. of Oakland.

The amount of the contract was $1,451,980.05. It calls for grading and paving 1.2 miles of State Route 24 (Mt. Diablo Boulevard) between a half-mile west and 0.7 miles east of Orinda Crossroads, and construction of a bridge.

According to R. C. Kennedy, secretary to the California State Highway Commission, work will start about the end of October. The contract calls for 400 working days, which will mean at least a year and a half of construction work.

The delay in starting the actual work is to permit the contractor to move his equipment in and set up his power lines, Kennedy said.

County Rejects Dawson Request On Lot Division

Acting on the recommendation of the County Planning Commission, the Board of Supervisors on Tuesday denied the application of E. A. Dawson for permission to divide a portion of Lot 2 in Orinda Park Terrace, on the north side of North Lane, into two lots of less than a half-acre each.

Attorney Sam Hall of Martinez, representing Dawson, urged the board to grant the request.

BUT SUPERVISOR H. L. Cummings stated that, although he disliked asking the board to turn down the application, he felt that the Residential - Agricultural zoning standard of minimum half-acre lots in the area must be maintained.

Cummings said he had studied the matter carefully and had conferred with Planning Commissioner Joseph D. De Costa, who lives in Orinda.

The Planning Commission's recommendation of denial was based mainly on objections of property owners in the area.

HUGH A. MALLORY received favorable recommendation of the Planning Commission for his application for a permit for 5 and 10-foot side yards for a residence on Orchard Road in Moraga Park.

The lot fronts about 100 feet on the west side of Orchard Road, approximately 450 feet east of Longview Terrace.

Inconvenience During Overpass Job? Sure, but It's Worth It, Orindans Say

A small sampling of Orinda residents seems to indicate that the construction of the Orinda Overpass will be quite a headache while it is going on, but that the end result will be worth the trouble.

The SUN telephoned a few Orindans this week to ask them these questions:

"WHAT DO YOU think of the fact that the Orinda Overpass construction, which will start soon, will probably result in confusion and delay of traffic? Will the construction interfere a great deal with your shopping and/or your commuting, and do you think the end result is worth it, both from the point of view of your own good and the good of Orinda?"

And here are some of the comments:

Mrs. J. Gordon Ainswort, 73 La Cuesta — "I think it will probably be very inconvenient, but I trust it will be worth it. Obviously something has to be done for the present congestion, and it seems to me that in this case the end justifies the means."

MRS. WALTER AMMON, 246 Overhill Road — "I think the end result will be worth anything in the way of inconvenience for a year or so, when we expect to live here for the next 20 years. I'm held at home by four little children and don't do a great deal of shopping, so it won't inconvience me too much. They can go right ahead with it."

H. W. Anderson, 959 Sunnyhill Road, between Lafayette and Orinda: — "It will inconvience me in my commuting, but will probably do some good after it is finished. It may not do Orinda much good, but it will help a lot of people further out. It is just one of those things we will have to put up with."

ROBERT W. ANGELL, 17 La Fond Lane — " I think it will be a good deal in the end. The Crossroads are a kind of bottleneck now and it remains to be seen how much it will inconvience me in my commuting. If it is no worse than the present bottleneck it will not be so bad."

A. M. Arighi, 1 Orchard Court — "I don't like the idea at all. Not knowing how the thing will be handled it is hard to say (how much of an inconvenience it will be). It will be undesirable for some time, but in the end I think it will be worth it, because the Orinda Crossroads is certainly a bottleneck."

And one Orinda housewife, who did not want her name mentioned, said: "I think something should be done about the present highway congestion. Now Orinda shopping is not particularly inconvenient, but I think anything that will relieve the highway congestion is worthy of any inconvenience we may have to put up with for a year or two.

Do You Have SUN 'Lucky Buck?' It May Be Worth $25! Check Serial Numbers!

Once again, The SUN "Lucky Bucks" treasure hunt gets under way today. You may win as much as $25 — and there's nothing to buy, no predictions to make, no buried treasure to find!

All you need is a one-dollar bill bearing one of the serial numbers listed in today's SUN.

TEN ONE-DOLLAR bills will be placed in circulation this morning by The SUN in stores in Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Lafayette and Orinda. If you have in your possession one of the bills bearing a listed serial number, the bill will be worth a cash award ranging from $5 to $25.

To receive the amount specified, just phone The SUN, arrange to receive your award and then come to The SUN office and trade the "Lucky Buck" for the cash award.

You must do this between 9 a.m. today and 9 a. m. next Friday.

EACH FRIDAY The SUN publishes the serial numbers of 10 "Lucky Bucks."

This novel treasure hunt got under way last week. Only one winner claimed an award for the first week — 13-year-old Melanie Jenders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Jenders of 3290 Sweet Drive, Lafayette.

The "Lucky Bucks" for this past week were released in local area stores last Friday morning, and the serial numbers appeared in last Friday's SUN.

In mid-afternoon that day Melanie discovered she had one of the "Lucky Bucks," worth $10. She promptly notified The SUN.

"I PICKED UP The SUN, which I always like to read," Melanie said. "When I saw the list of 'Lucky Bucks' serial numbers, I took my dollar bills out of my purse and studied them.

"I told myself, 'I know I won't win anything.' Imagine my surprise and delight when I saw that one of the bills was good for a $10 award."

You may be as lucky as Melanie this time — maybe even luckier. Be sure to compare your dollar bills with the "Lucky Buck" serial numbers in The SUN.

Pin-Ball Problem Back Again... Long Wants Time

Sheriff James N. Long this week asked for more time to investigate complaints by a Pinole-Rodeo judge about pin-ball machines in Contra Costa County.

Because of his request, county supervisors held over action on a proposed ordinance which would make it illegal for minors to play pin-ball machines.

THE NEW LAW was prepared by District Attorney Francis W. Collins after Judge Donald F. Creedon wrote the supervisors last month, saying, "It was a well recognized fact that some pinball machines pay off in sums as high as $20."

Sheriff Long said that his staff is not large enough to police all taverns and stores where pin-ball machines are located.

"If we are to police all taverns and stores where pin-ball machines are located, I will have to ask for more officers," he said.

SHERIFF LONG also went on to say that the responsibility for informing his office of any illegal activities belongs to all adult citizens in the county.

(Editor's note: In a series of recent articles, The SUN called Sheriff Long's attention to illegal pinball gambling throughout the county. After three weeks, illegal machines were removed in Walnut Creek, Lafayette and Orinda, but continued to operate elsewhere.)

Collins said that Judge Creedon should have reported any pin-ball violation immediately to authorities instead of referring to it by letter.

"If there is a fire, a person does not write a letter. He calls the fire department, right away. The same should be done whenever a law violation is observed," Collins said.

FIRST BABY BORN at the new $2 million Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek was Mark Henry Harrigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrigan of 3510 Hamlin Road, Lafayette. Here are mother and child at the hospital. Mark, weighing 6 pounds, 11 ounces, was born September 17. The Harrigans have two other children, Keith, 6, and Merrilee, 4.

Park Council to Tour Briones Valley Park Site

Because the East Bay Municipal Utility District is willing to sell a 2,000 acre holding in Briones Valley, and the county planning staff has declared it ideal for a park site, the Contra Costa Park Council will tour the acreage in the near future, according to Alvin A. Burton of Walnut Creek, chairman of the citizen park promoters' group.

Richard Stockwell of the county master planning staff told of the Briones Valley proposal at the park council's public meeting at San Ramon High School last week and also gave results of other preliminary county park surveys, all brought about by the instigation of the council.

POINTING OUT that the county planning office could only make surveys and proposals, Stockwell told the 50 assembled organization delegates that they and other interested citizens would have to continue driving for parks if they wanted concrete action.

Because of polluted water, mud flats and concentration of industry along the county shoreline, the county's beach park survey was discouraging, Stockwell announced.

However, the inland picture was promising, and preliminary studies indicated that the Briones Valley, the environs of Mt. Diablo and the old mine area between Pittsburg and Antioch could make good park sites.

Further advice on how the group could work for the parks was given by Charles Davis, superintendent of recreation for the city of Berkeley, who had been a pioneer in the East Bay Municipal Park movement.

HE TOLD of the years of struggling his committee had to undergo and declared that the park council was extremely fortunate in having enlisted county cooperation so soon.

Selling people on the idea of parks and getting good leadership for future park administration would be the council's main problems, according to Davis.

Bruce Chamberlin of Concord will be in charge of the Briones outing, and Pleasant Hill will be the scene of the next meeting on October 22.

Mormon Church to Meet at New Time

New commencement time for Mormon Church services held each Sunday at Orinda Community Church, will now be 1 p.m. instead of 12:30 p.m.

Thomas Stuart Ferguson, Samuel W. Scott and Mylan L. Healy are the branch presidency, Mrs. Elva Hutchinson, organist.

Lesson topic for the adult group will be the teachings of Enos as found in the Book of Mormon.

"Enos, son of Jacob, historian-teacher of the Nephite peoples of Central America several hundred years before the birth of Christ, is given the responsibility, by his aging father, to guard the metal plates and record further on them the highlights of the religious and secular history of his people during his time, a procedure followed by those peoples since their departure from Jerusalem in 600 B.C.," the church leaders state.

"For at that time the strugglings of the Nephites were in vain in restoring their neighbors the Lamanites to the true faith, who swore in their wrath that if it were possible, they would destroy the Nephie people and their records and with it all the traditions of their fathers.

"We invite the residents of the area to join us Sunday in the discussion of this lesson."

The children of the Sunday School will meet as usual for their class work in their respective age groups.

Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Cancer and Heart Units Reject Joint United Crusade

Refusal of offers to affiliate with the East Bay United Crusade was voiced by four local health and welfare organizations this week.

In a public statement the fund-raising organizations "rejected affiliation with the proposed 'East Bay United Crusades'."

Included in the group are the Mt. Diablo Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Contra Costa County Branch of the American Cancer Society, the Contra Costa County Heart Association, and the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout Council.

"This joint statement is felt necessary because of misunderstandings and confusion which have arisen as an aftermath of publicly made proposals that Contra Costa County agencies be included in Bi-County United Crusades," it read.

IN RICHMOND, Antioch and Pittsburg, several or all of the four agencies will participate in local joint appeals. Spokesmen said that the public statement in no way concerns these locally approved federated fund-raising drives.

The agencies cited their agreement with the statement made by Charles J. Hart, vice-president of the Contra Costa County Branch of the American Cancer Society:

"The suggested consolidation of the fund-raising activties of Contra Costa County voluntary agencies with those of Alameda County into a super - collection organization would not properly be in keeping with the philosophy of voluntary giving which offers each individual the right to give as he chooses.

"IT WOULD BE more wholesome if fund-raising activities of local health and welfare organizations were brought closer to home instead of being taken farther away.

"Undermining of the personal relationship between a donor and the cause which interests him will tend in time to destroy the spirit of mutual concern about a given problem which traditionally has brought them together in the past."

Lucas Family Has Picnic, Reunion

A Lucas family reunion was held September 13 at Pinole Park. The family, pioneers in Contra Costa County, met for its annual picnic and barbecue.

There were 12 children present of the original family, which goes back more than 50 years in county history. There are 86 members of the family living, but only 74 were present.

Among them were:

MR. AND MRS. M. E. Lucas of Sunset Village, Lafayette, their daughters Laverne Selstad of San Mateo and her husband and children, and Lorraine Gosby of Berkeley and her husband and children.

Also present from Lafayette were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lucas of Moraga Boulevard and their daughter-in-law Mrs. Clifford Lucas of Sunset Village.

ALSO ATTENDING: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lucas and their son Richard of St. Helena; Mr. and Mrs. James Lucas and children and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lucas and children of Orinda.

Mr .and Mrs. Alex Lucas of Sunset Village; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Zanco and daughter Myrtle of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lucas and children of Turlock; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lucas of Oceanside and children of Turlock and Modesto.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perriera and children of Martinez and Mrs. Mary Marshall and Ben Comstock of Walnut Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lucas and family of Pinole.

The 12 children are the youngsters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Lucas of Moraga.

USO Performers Entertain Men

Local talent entertained servicemen at the Diablo Area USO last Sunday.

Entertainers included Barbara Boulter, who did pantomines to the accompaniment of records and Barbara and George Prawl who sang duets, accompanied by Itala Gambino.

Mrs. Gambino later played several classical piano selections and the program was concluded with popular tunes presented by the Melodiers, Walnut Creek trio.

The Diablo Area USO is located at the Walnut Creek Recreation building and is open every Sunday from 2 to 8 p.m. However, it will be closed during the Walnut Festival and the following Sunday, October 4.

Eavesdropping with Eve

Many of you know Mrs. John (Mary) Dorr as a very busy and popular former Orinda resident — I did not know her except as a radio voice during the last month. However, I did have the pleasure of being a luncheon guest of Mrs. James Buxton September 3 along witth Mary Dorr and Mrs. M. B. Sutliffe.

Over a delightful Cape Cod House Crab Louis, Mary Dorr kept us spellbound with her bright and exciting life — some of which I will try to impart to you.

First of all, Mary had been guest commentator over radio station KFRC in San Francisco each day and was now about to fly back to Philadelphia, Pa., where she broadcasts daily and is in great demand as a guest speaker.

She has been active in radio work for many years and has managed to combine motherhood — she has three active youngsters — and career, plus an eager interest in husband, John Dorr's hobby — flying. The Dorrs are happy owners of a low-wing 4-place Navion so they are literally "up in the air" every week end.

AS MARY SAYS, it is a simple matter to pack lunches and take off — if they land in isolated locales, they have a canvas home which is a custom made tent fitting under the airplane wing. The tent measures 12 feet by 8 feet and holds sleeping bags and air mattresses for the entire family. All three children love to fly and are seasoned travelers who can't wait weekend to weekend for another "ride."

In spite of all the demands on Mary Dorr's talents, she finds time to take charge of a Brownie group, much to daughter Diana's (age 8) delight; and have fun with 5 year old Johnnie and 21 month old Dennie; and still be an attractive wife and entertaining hostess for husband John and their many friends.

After our interesting lunch, we adjourned to the Buxton apartment where Mary further proved her versatility at a foursome of bridge. Now, say I, a mother who blends marriage and a most interesting career so charmingly deserves a salute — Mary, a salute in passing!

HOORAY FOR THE SWIM team members! Swimming for Temescal Pool in the Oakland City Recreation Championships were nine members of the Orinda Park Pool Swim Team.

CARL DREWS, who took the team in for the meet, said that before the races began, all the members of the team had taken a vow to win for Bob Edwards their coach. Bob has been ill with pneumonia and is now recuperating.

Following are winners in each event — Boys aged 9 and 10 — Peter Stocker; girls 9 and 10— Diana Kersten; Boys, 13 and 14 — (Novice) Larry Pilcher; Boys, 13 and 14 (open) — DuVal Geissler; Girls — 13 and 14 — Georgianne Watkins; Boys — 11 and 12 — Marc Littlejohn; Girls — 11 and 12 Sheri Elder; Boys — 15 and 16 — Mike Small; Girls — 15 and 16 — Sue Murray. Swimming in relays from the Orinda Park Team and also awarded ribbons were Susan Schwatcka, Dixon Farmer, Ed Rinne and Mary Gardner.

About our happy Country Folks

By EDITH BOLMAN

AND NOW WE ARE CONVINCED of something we have suspected for quite a spell — we were born 23 years too soon. Having gone to Europe slightly subsequent to the "Our hearts were young and gay" period we realized that a few things might have changed since we were a girl.

It now evolves that we didn't know the half of it. Forthcoming, in their own words, is the trip taken this summer by Tom Tilton and Jo Foster. They have been evading us ever since their return but we finally cornered them while wearing our better-do-it-for-the-Children-Hospital -or-else expression so here it is and thank you very much Tom and Jo.

AFTER EIGHT DAYS of pinochle, bridge, cribbage, hearts and icebergs 14 wide-eyed, tired but eager students (?) disembarked in France on the first leg of a European tour. Try to crowd into two weeks in Paris everything you hve previously planned. We tried, — Tours, museums, galeries, cafes, cabarets, and shopping.

We got it all in including taking the wrong subway (metro), asking directions in high school French, not understanding the answers, and just plain getting lost. But this is all just as much a part of the fun of being in Paris as the Flea Market, escargots, and onion soup. There was the night when we did the nightclubs — The Lido, Moulin Rouge, Lapin Agile, and ended up at Les Halles (the open air food market) for onion soup and an hour of talk with workmen who were just coming off their jobs. Tom missed this, but he did all right for himself because he got to see the Left Bank with friends of his who were studying at the Sorbonne.

And then there was the little garden party given for some 100,000 Americans in Paris on the Fourth of July by the Embassy. We all shook Ambassador Dillon's right hand while warding off the rain with an umbrella in our left.

We recovered from Paris with a stay on the Riviera where we washed our clothes for the first time. Loundry was something of a problem, since we were travelling so fast we had to do it ourselves. But we soon found out that we could soak it while at breakfast, rinse it, and have it dry by noon.

We had become a little too informal though, because one of our party was asked to remove his underwear from where it was drying on the balcony outside his oom at our hotel on the Riviera. Of course we found time to place a bet at Monte Carlo and swim at Juan Les Pins. There were cabanas on the beach to rent, but we cut expenses by changing in our hotel. The French however weren't so fussy — they changed right on the beach.

Veni Vidi Vinci — We came, We saw, We got sick, This was Rome. It must have been the tea ice cream. But we weren't down for long. By taking sulpha pills and shaking down our tour leader's thermometer we got to go out the second night to the open air opera at the old Caracalla Baths. Even if we had been on our feet we could have seen very little of Rome. It was so packed with American tourists that we had to literally push our way onto the Sistine Chapel.

Travel through this area as through most of Europe was by train. But they are not the trains that we are accustomed to here — being almost exclusively coal burners. Passengers, after a long trip, looked more like the miners of Pennsylvania than travellers.

Food would also have to be "imported" for use on the trains. A bottle of wine and a loaf of bread garnished with coal dust — a tasty meal. Swiss trains were, however, electric, but we still had our problems such as luggage. Porter service is almost unheard of. Since aisles are very narrow we had to load and unload bags, boxes, and bundles through the windows. Stops were seldom longer than five minutes so, we acquired great skill in performing this operation.

By the time we got to Austria and Germany our high school French was no longer of any use to us. We had to resort to a primative sign language. One of the group tried to buy a tube of tooth paste and got a can of Polodent.

Wiesbaden, a city on the Rhine, is Germany's famous spa known for its thermal baths that are said to do wonders for the gout. One can imagine our surprise when we found running hot and cold mineral waters in our bath tubs. We also had instructions for their use and a thermometer to assure the right temperature. A black cord over the tub that looked like a light switch later proved to Joe's astonishment to be a bell for the maid who came rushing in when he pulled it.

Shopping in Belgium and Holland was kept to a minimum because no one was in a position to carry home a parrot from the Brussel's Bird Market or a wheel of cheese from Amsterdam. Amsterdam did provide us though with a thirty-two dish Indonesian dinner that took three hours to eat provided you came equipped with a large appetite.

The Tivoli Gardens in Copenhagen was a novel experience for all of us. One may choose among 22 fine restaurants and everything is there for amusement from ballet to roller coasters with a dash of fire works. All of our party liked Copenhagen. We found the people there friendlier than anywhere else. In fast all of Scandanavia made us a little homesick. The country side reminded us of the beauty of Northern Caliornia.

We were lucky to arrive in Edinburgh during the Drama and Music Festival. Those who were able to get tickets for "Hamlet" said it was much more enjoyable to attend a Shakespear play than to read one. One of the other outstanding events was the Military Tattoo presented on the ramparts of Edinburgh Castle every evening by various Scottish regiments complete with kilts and bag pipes.

Dispute Flares Over Masonic Building Request

from the projected Masonic Hall and that he intends to build his home there. He said he now lives in Oakland across the street from a Masonic lodge building and that his present residence is not in a desirable location because of noise from the lodge building.

PATTERSON ANSWERED the objectors by declaring that there would be adequate off-street parking space, that St. Stephen's Church will be next to the building and that EBMUD land would also adjoin it.

Jensen and Patterson submitted an architect's sketch showing the proposed building and grounds. The building would include a main lodge room, a kitchen, dining room and lobby.

The protest petition merely asked that the Mason's application be denied. But in the accompanying letter Van Gilluwe expressed essentially the same points he had raised before the Orinda Association's Civic Affairs Committee Monday night at Orinda School.

VAN GILLUWE'S letter gave the following reasons for objection by the officers and directors of the Monte Vista club:

1. A Masonic Hall "in this residential area would affect property values and investments detrimentally."

2. Operation of such a structure, "if it followed the usual pattern, would develop into a semi-business enterprise through rental of the building and premises to outside groups."

3. THE BUILDING'S operation "would intensify even further the existing critical traffic problems which prevail on that portion of Charles Hill Road below its intersection with Honey Hill Road" and the "cost of road work needed to alleviate the present hazardous condition might be increased due to additional traffic generated by this location of a Masonic Hall."

4. "With the continued growth of the Orinda Masonic organization, it is entirely possible that currently planned provisions for parking might be outgrown, thereby creating on-street parking problems and congestion."

5. Approval of the application "would create a precedent which would be a wedge for other organizations or enterprises to secure zoning variances, the result of which would be inimical to property values and optimum development of this residential area."

RAWLINGS SIMON of the lodge's program and entertainment committee said yesterday that negotiations are under way with EBMUD, owner of the land, for purchase of the nearly four-acre site.

Van Gilluwe told the Civic Affairs Committee that he was just reporting on the subject to that group. He was thanked by Chairman Frank Hart.

HOWEVER, after Van Gilluwe had listed the reasons for opposition, Hart said:

"In such a case you are trespassing on people's ideals and religion." He added he felt it was beyond the scope of the Civic Affairs group to act on such a matter.

The Orinda Masonic Lodge meets regularly on Monday nights in the Washington Room of Orinda Community Church. M. Blaine De Leshe is lodge master.

Ray Wells Will Aid In Church Service

Ray Wells, newly-appointed leader of youth activities for the Orinda Community Church, will assist Sunday in the two worship services held in the chapel at 9:30 and 11 o'clock, and will have his first session with the high school age young people in the evening at 6:45 in the Fellowship Hall.

In the preacher's post will be the Rev. Fred R. Morrow, speaking at 11 a. m. on "Christian Freedom." Organist for the earlier hour is Virginia Baker, while at 11 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Popovich serve as organist and director respectively. The chapel choir will sing "The Voice in the Wilderness," by Scott.

Other organ music includes Franck's "Fuge and Variation," "To the Rising Sun," by Torjussen, and "Folk Songs," by the same composer.

The third session of an adult discussion series on "Development of Self-Awareness" will be led after the early chapel service by Miss Adena Joy.

Knights, Don Babes in Grid Clash Tonight

In Another Year This One Will Be The "Big Game"

It's "civil war" tonight, with the Las Lomas Knights invading Acalanes Memorial Field to do battle at 8 o'clock with the Don Babes in a grid contest that promises to become eventually the Big Game on the schedule.

Inasmuch as Las Lomas has no Seniors ,the Dons will play minus all four-year players. On the basis of their initial outings, the Dons and Knights have two of the best elevens in the junior gridiron circuit.

LAS LOMAS PULLED an upset when they routed highly favored Mt. Diablo last week by a 13-8 count, while the Don Babes unleashed a fast-moving attack to swamp Antioch 27-6.

Ace of the Las Lomas backfield appears to be Rick Ostrom, who possesses power and breakaway speed.

COACHES George Deklotz and Merrill Callow of Las Lomas have been shifting players and stressing blocking all week long in order to be ready for the Don contingent.

Dame rumor has it that several new offensive maneuvers have been added in order to catch the Don defense off guard.

ACALANES COACHES Bob Stevens and Gene Ridley haven't been exactly loafing, and players have been receiving an overdose of fundamentals as well as a polish on their offense.

The game, while a Junior Varsity affair ,promises to be close to a sellout, as interest is at a high pitch.

THE DON COACHES have announced their starters as follows:

Pete Villa (160), Tom Veitch (150), ends.
Fred Volz (226, Bud Dodge (200), tackles.
Bill Rupley (150)), Tom Hannon (170), guards.
Bob Nielson (200), center.
Red Jones (155), quarterback.
Sonny Failk (150), fullback.
Tom Horner (130), left half.
Mike Barrett (135), right half.

THE LAS LOMAS lineup is a tentative one, with changes being made from day to day. The latest available lineup shows:

Dick Jordan, Marvin Hobbs, ends.
Arnold Lande, Arne Lundquist, tackles.
Ted Zeller, Jon French, guards.
Gary Williams, center.
Bob Lucas, quarterback.
Bob Kinyon, fullback.
Rick Ostrom, Don Ogden, halfbacks.

LAST YEAR the Dons entered the game pre-game favorites and squeaked by, 13-6, in a slam-bang affair.

This will mark the first time either club has appeared under the lights.

Prep League Play Sure To Be Tough-- But Dons May Be Able to Nab Pennant

By ERWIN MATTSON

THE PAST WEEKEND gave indications of things to come when Contra Costa prep elevens all gave a good account of themselves and in so doing showed that no one team is going to dominate the league.

The Dons came within an ace of upsetting the highly rated Piedmont Highlanders, while Pittsburg lost a close 6-0 decision to rough and ready Bellamarine from down Santa Clara way.

Mt. Diablo pounded out a 13-6 win over Alameda's best, while Antioch waltzed to a 27-0 decision over Brentwood's Liberty High.

Albany crashed the win column with a resounding 26-0 vistory over Riordan of San Francisco.

Alhambra and John Swett drew byes but will round out the grid picture when they go into action this weekend.

IT WILL TAKE a good club to go through the season of league play without a loss — and don't be too surprised if the penannt winner takes a licking along the route.

One thing certain: The Dons are ahead of last year, and if they pick up along the way they can definitely be counted in the pennant contender class.

The line averages around 185 and appears to have adequate replacements after a few shifts in personnel have been made.

The backs are coming along, with all showing to advantage in the Piedmont game.

The Don Varsity draws a bye this weekend, and it remains to be seen if that is an advantage or disadvantage as far as the Pittsburg game next Friday night is concerned.

It gives extra time for drills and play additions but the lack of game experience could prove to be a handicap.

An intersquad scrimmage is on tap in lieu of a game, which is the next best subsititute for an actual game.

No Seniors are to be used in the Las Lomas game, which eliminates all of the starting lineup that started against Piedmont.

IN GAMES over the weekend, ex-Dons did their share.

Buzz Williams and Roger Linn saw plenty of action in College of the Pacific's startling upset win over Stanford's Indians, whom COP scalped, 25-20.

Lloyd Torchio did yeoman duty for California as center and linebacker but ended up on the short end of a 25-0 count with top-flight Baylor, which displayed a smooth and deceptive attack.

Bob Borghesani went all the way as the East Contra Costa Junior College Vikings tumbled a higly rated Santa Rosa eleven.

The Viking win was in the upset class, and Bob, in addition to bang-up offensive and defensive play, scored 6 when he took an aerial in the end zone.

Jim Champion did his stint for J.C. as a tackle and appears to have won himself a starting spot.

Cal's Golden Bears had their ears knocked down last Saturday and as a result some are already howling for Pappy Waldorf's scalp.

His record over the years at Cal is still the best on the Coast, but all that is forgotten as the human desire for victory and prestige drown out all else.

The truth of the matter is that the Bears are not as bad as the score indicates (25-0) and that the Bears will meet few elevens the like of the Baylor grid machine.

Cal's ranks are thin and the "deep freeze" so much talked about has exploded.

The Cal coaching staff, in my humble opinion, has utilized the material available to the best advantage.

The unfortunate part is that many grid fans use little judgement in weighing matters and look strictly at the loss and win column.. Injured pride and the loss of a wager makes many a fan look for someone's scalp, and the coach is the logical one to be chosen as the victim.

The world loves a winner, but how soon it can forget!

Vikings Seek to Scalp Redskins

With most of their injured players back in action, the East Contra Costa Junior College Vikings will be shooting for their second straight grid win of the season tonight against the Vallejo Junior College Redskins.

The game is scheduled at Vallejo's Corbus Field, with kickoff set for 8 p.m.

COACH HAL BUFFA'S Vikings, with eight of his top guns viewing from the sidelines with various ailments, opened the '53 campaign with an impressive 25-20 decision over the powerful Santa Rosa Bear Cubs last Friday night in Santa Rosa's Bailey Field before an estimated 2000 fans .

Halfback L. C. (Jet) Joyner, Northern California's top J. C. scorer with the Vikings last season was the big star with a pair of touchdowns and a conversion for 13 points.

END BOB BORGHESANI, the 210-pound ex-Acalanes ace, and Halfback Frankie Aiella of Pittsburg scored the other touchdowns for Contra Costa.

The Vikings broke the game wide open in the second quarter with 19 points. Behind 6-0, Contra Costa took advantage of a bad punt and took over on Santa Rosa's 19.

THE DRIVE WAS climaxed with Quarterback Ray Vallejo of Crockett tossing a three-yard pass to Borghesani in the end zone. Joyner kicked good to give C.C. a 7-6 edge.

Later, Vallejo again took to the air, passing five yards to Joyner on the six and the speedster spun away to score.

After the Bear Cubs tied the count, Contra Costa went ahead to stay, with 55 seconds remaining in the half when Joyner sprinted 62 yards straight up the middle.

Knights Trounce Red Devils 13-8

The Las Lomas Knights made their 1953 debut an impressive one when they posted a 13-8 win over the highly rated Mt. Diablo Red Devils in a game played at Concord on September 17.

The win stamped the Knights as a definite pennant threat in the Contra Costa Junior Varsity League.

THE DEVILS HIT pay dirt first when they intercepted a Las Lomas pass early in the second quarter and rambled 50 yards into the end zone, making it 6-0 when the conversion try failed.

Coaches George Deklotz and Merrill Callow must have fired their charges up at the haltifme, as they wasted little time.

Quarterback Bob Lucas faded back after a fake into the line and tossed an aerial to End Dick Jordan, who went the distance to score standing up, with the play consuming 50 yards.

LAS LOMAS scored the all-important extra point when the Knights crossed the defense up by passing from a kick formation.

Diablo came winging back and scored a safety when Las Lomas was trapped in its own end zone after a series of plays had placed the Knights with their backs to the goal line.

The safety gave Diablo an 8-7 lead.

BUT RICK OSTROM, Las Lomas' sterling left half, broke off tackle early in the fourth period and scampered 53 yards to put the Knights out in front, 13-8.

That's the way it all ended. Las Lomas held the Devils well in their own territory the rest of the way.

The win placed Las Lomas in a tie for first place along with the Don Babes, who trounced Antioch; the iPtt Pirates, who won easily over Albany, and Pleasant Hill, which pulled a 6-0 win out the bag, with John Swett the victim.

Don Babes Whip Panthers, 27-6

The Acalanes Babes came through with a resounding victory in their league grid opener September 17 when they ran and passed their way to a convincing 27-6 win over the Antioch Panthers.

The Dons racked up four touchdowns with two coming in the opening quarter, one in the second and another in the third period.

TOM HORNER, left half, put the Dons out in front when he scored from 12 yards out on a quick hand-off over tackle.

Sonny Falk, the Dons' frosh fullback, crashed over center midway in the same quarter. Red Jones had kicked the first conversion but missed on his second try, making it 13-0.

ANTIOCH CAME through with its sole score early in the second period of play, only to have End Bob Roberts block an Antioch punt, scoop up the ball and ramble 30 yards into the end zone.

When Jones added the conversion try with a well-directed place-kick, the scoreboard showed: Acalanes, 20; Antioch, 6.

ANTIOCH KICKED OFF at the opening of the third quarter, only to have Halfback Mike Barrett tuck the pigskin under his arm and gallop 87 yards to score standing up.

When Jones kicked the conversion try it was all over but the shouting.

Pete Villa at end was a standout for the Dons with his sterling defensive play, as was Guard Bill Rupley, while Fred Volz showed to advantage at his tackle spot.

Highlanders Win Over Dons, 12-6, In See-Saw Tiff

The Acalanes Varsity opened the 1953 grid season in an impressive if not winning fashion last Friday night when they came within an ace of upsetting the highly rated Piedmont Highlanders.

The game, played under the lights of Piedmont's Witter Field, before a crowd of 4000, saw the Dons dominate the field of play in the first half, only to have the roof fall in when Piedmont's brilliant Matry Upshaw gathered a wayward Acalanes pass into his arms and sprinted over the goal line 35 yards away without a hand being laid on him.

Fifty seconds remained on the clock at the time. The conversion try was no good.

THE DONS BLEW a chance to score early in the second period when they lost the ball on downs on the 2-foot line.

The second half was a see-saw battle with Piedmont's Upshaw scoring again on an off-tackle slant from four yards out ,while Fullback Ray Williamson put the Dons on the scoreboard when he boomed for the final five yards over tackle with half the Piedmont team on his back.

It just wasn't the night for conversions, as both tries failed.

STATISTICS SHOWED the Highlanders with 190 yards rushing plus 17 on passing, while the Dons counted 114 rushing and 66 via the air route.

The Dons threatened late in the game, only to fall short when Piedmont picked off another pass interception, and with it went the Dons' chances to pull the game out of the fire.

The game was an exceptionally well-played one for an opener and produced some top-flight play.

Caswell to Shoot For Top Honors

With third place in BCRA point standings cinched, Walnut Creek's Bob Caswell will make a bid for the championship tonight when the hard tops return to Contra Costa Stadium.

If the local leadfoot continues to finish strong in the season's remaining races, a little racing luck could bring the championship to Walnut Creek. Caswell is still in position to overtake Keith Willis of Hayward and Bill Maher of Vallejo, the two leaders.

Peonies Simple, Economical to Grow; Plant Now for Good Springtime Plants

By BERT WRIGHT

HARDY, EASY AND ECONOMICAL to grow, the peony is one of America's favorite perennials.

If it isn't already a part of your garden, be sure to include it in your fall planting.

You'll be richly rewarded in spring, when the beautiful blooms add their enchantment to your home grounds.

Since the new "eyes" are now formed for next season's growth, this is the time to plant peonies.

Planting now insures establishment of feeding roots right up until wintertime, making plants that show stronger growth the following spring.

PEONIES MAY be planted with satisfactory results, however, until the first hard freeze.

While early plantings show a little stronger growth the following spring, there is no noticeable difference in the second growing season.

Peonies need full sunlight, good draingae and prefer a rich, deep loam soil.

Spade the soil to a depth of one foot.

THROUGH PREPARATION of the soil is necessary because of the deep rooting character of the peony and because the planting is a permanent one in many cases.

Since peonies, once they are established, occupy the same spot for a number of years, and since they are heavy feeders, it is important that they get regular feedings.

Either now or next spring, scatter one handful of plant food on the soil surrounding the plant and work it in lightly with a rake.

THERE ARE A few "don'ts" to keep in mind when planting peonies.

Avoid setting the roots too deeply in the soil. In sandy soil, buds may be covered by 3 inches of soil; in clay soil, the covering should not exceed two inches.

Be certain, also, that you don't plant them too closely together. Three feet is as close as they should be to one another.

And don't plant peonies near trees or shrubs, or, where other peonies have previously grown.

PEONY PLANTS should get a light mulch of straw or similar material the first winter after planting.

Roots have not become well established and alternate freezing and thawing may damage them. Apply the mulch after the ground is frozen.

Should you find it necessary to move established peonies, this is the best season to do the job.

No peony plant which has been growing in one spot more than two years should be moved without dividing.

CAREFULLY DIG UP the entire plant and shake or wash off the soil to expose the roots.

Rather than trying to divide at once, let it stand for a few hours, exposed to the air, till the roots wilt somewhat. Then you can divide them without breaking them so badly.

A good peony division is no more than six or seven inches long with thre to five eyes or buds at the top.

Larger roots are no better; in fact, except in the South, large roots are not as good as standard three-to-five-eye divisions.

Christian Science Sermon Sunday to Be on 'Reality'

The Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Reality" to be read in all Christian Science churches Sunday will be comprised of citations read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

One of the Bible verses will be from II Timothy:

"Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the world of truth" (2:15).

The correlative citations from Science and Health will include the following passage:

"To divest thought of false trusts and material evidence in order that the spiritual facts of being may appear, — this is the great attainment by means of which we shall sweep away the false and give place to the truth" (p. 428).

Spotlighting the Strip

By KITTY COLE

"Waitin' for the Train to Come in' could have been the theme song at FREDDIE'S PIZZERIA last week, when ROSEMARY and FREDDIE BOLOGNIA and the two children choo-chooed off to Chicago and a visit with their respective parents.

Almost a year since they left home to try their luck in our area, and with a successful business, have now returned in triumph to the old haunts. Meanwhile ANITA and RICHIE BOLOGNIA will keep the pizza ovens hot, and full of the new taste sensation.

Just learned that the EL NIDO RANCHO almost lost the windmill sign which is so much a part of its landscape. Pressure was put upon JOHN MOTTA to have it removed. 'Twas called an "eye-sore."

But one of our local Chamber of Commerce men went to bat for JOHN, and the pressure was withdrawn. Quoting JOHN: "There are other signs in Lafayette which are most unattractive and we feel ours is a landmark which is known far and wide."

At EL NIDO's anniversary party, a duplicate of the windmill always adorns the cake, that's how important it is.

Had quite a chat with JACK CURTISS, who is a featured vocalist on the EL NIDO'S Breakfast-Broadcast. He's well-known in radio and TV circles, and since joining the Sunday KLX program has received many fan letters.

The Achievement Of Girl Scouting

Playing with fire is one of the age-old temptations of childhood — for centuries the cause of fear on the part of parents, but a never-ending enticement to children.

Therefore, it was a wise and clever man who first thought to make fires the heart of a program to benefit youth. What is more typical of the Scouting movement than the campfire?

Offering children the chance to do what they want to do — and seizing this opportunity to teach them — the Scouting movements developed the greatest youth program in modern history.

Play with fire? Of course! But learn how to start it properly, how to keep it going, how to cook with it, how to use it as a tool for your own purposes. And, learn how to put it out.

Because it helps boys and girls to learn by doing the things they want to do, the Scouting movement has achieved unparalleled success in developing capable, self-sufficient adult men and women.

This is its particular achievement.

And it is important to all of us that we be aware of a service organization's achievements when we are asked to contribute funds.

The annual fund drive of the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout Council is currently in full swing in the local area. It started one week ago and will continue for 10 more days.

The council has set $25,000 as the minimum amount necessary to complete its program for the coming year. The Diablo Valley is the only area where operating revenue can be raised for the local Girl Scout activities.

As Lean Rahn, fund drive chairman, has announced, "Every community represented needs Girl Scouting, but it can only be made possible through the generosity of the people living in the area."

Growing, as is all of central Contra Costa County, the local Girl Scout program will include about 4000 active members this year. In 1949 it included only about 1000 members. The total of $25,000 is the very least that will do the job.

All funds raised here will be spent here. All fund drive workers are volunteering their time and energy and will receive no pay.

The Girl Scout Council is one of seven different service and charity organizations which have not affiliated with the East Bay United Crusade, wishing to maintain itself as an individual unit, raising its own funds and administering its own drive.

There has been confusion, in this respect, because all local fund-raising organizations were invited to join the East Bay Crusade and all discussed the matter at length.

Because so many organizations voted to NOT affiliate with the crusade, many separate local drives will be held again this year, as in the past.

Each of these organizations, as well as those included in the United Crusade, has its own special purpose and its own particular program.

The purpose and the program of the Girl Scouts are worthy. The Girl Scout movement will continue to assist thousands of young girls, as long as the community gives its support.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As a parent of four small children, the oldest of whom has just started kindergarten, I was deeply shocked and immensely frightened by the tragedy of last Friday that resulted in the death of the Barron child.

I am sure that no one can be held responsible for the accident, and that no one can be condemned in the slightest for what happened.

But I DO believe that a recurrence can be avoided.

The crux of the matter is the blind spot directly in front of the bus.

Could this be eradicated by mounting a large mirror on the underside of the extending roof of the bus, which mirror faces down, and thereby allows the driver to see reflected the area directly in front of the entire width of the bus?

Perhaps the mirror would have to be slightly parabolic or curved so as to cover enough of the ground.

If such a device is feasible, I strongly suggest it be incorporated on all school buses at the earliest possible moment.

Perhaps The SUN would like to have the readers comment on this? Or offer alternative ideas? As to cost, who would refuse to insure the safety of their children? Not I, for one.

W. E. S. DYER JR.,
646 Los Palos Drive,
Lafayette.

Dear Editor:

Some time ago you did a good job trying to get the passenger traffic back on the Sacramento Northern.

It isn't too late to get it back if the higher-ups in the state would take an interest. There are many people in Walnut Creek and Lafayette wanting to sell their homes because of the bad highway conditions.

I noticed something in the paper that said Goodwin Knight stated about what we need is more rapid transportation to get people places. He could win a lot of votes in Walnut Creek if he would pledge to put the Sacramento Northern in running order.

It will be a long time before we ever get highways and freeways from the Bay District to Walnut Creek sufficient. In the meantime the Sacramento Northern could do a lot of good if it would.

THOMAS L. KNIGHT
Berkeley.

Music Teachers Meet

The Contra Costa County Branch of the Music Teacher's Association held a "Pot Luck and Steak Barbecue" at the home of Mrs. Mary Nunes Souza, 3229 Glenside Road, Lafayette, Tuesday.

The affair was the first fall "get
The affair was the girst fall "get together" of the local group.

Stop

• do you realize how much it costs you—if you go through the tunnel to do your shopping?

• forget for the moment the inconveniences of bucking traffic for miles to shop in the BIG TOWNS on the other side of the tunnel.

• forget the problems you have trying to find a parking spot.

• forget your sheer exhaustion and weary feet of fighting the big town crowds.

• but for a minute consider the "operating costs" of shopping through the tunnel. For example, here's what it cost Mrs. Jones on a recent trip:

Baby Sitter
6 hours at 50c (most day sitters charge more)	$3.00
Lunch for sitter	.30
Gas, oil, depreciation 30 miles at 7c	2.10
Parking lot charges (or perhaps a ticket for overtime parking, $2)	.75
Lunch
Salad and coffee	.75
Snack, pie and coffee	.25
GRAND TOTAL	$7.15

• please remember that your local merchant is here to serve you 365 days a year . . . he depends on your business and therefore is vitally interested in giving the best quality merchandise at fair prices and with friendly service.

Playshop Brings Broad Comedy, Belly Laughter

By THE REVIEWER

Broad comedy and belly laughs are in store for anyone who attends the current production of the Lafayette Playshop, to run tonight and tomorrow night and October 2 and 3.

The combination melodrama and olio is not only a production of the stage, it's all over the Lafayette Town Hall.

The production crew has built in a brass rail bar in the basement, a minor stage there and covered the walls of the whole building with pictures and posters to bring back the era when the melo was popular.

THE TITLE OF the opus, by Morland Cary, is "Love Rides the Rails." The plot is typical. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Admission — 90 cents.

Liberal beer sales; audience participation with boos, cheers and assorted comments; and planting of characters on the dark side of the footlights added up to a "relax, get with it and have a good time" type of evening.

Related only vaguely to drama, the production represents bushels of the best golden bantam stuff, well boiled and buttered.

And as anyone who has tried it knows, good corn is hard to produce, for the actors here must carry the vehicle, not vice versa.

JACK HOLDER, WHO played Simon Darkway, was a terrific villian and Dick Steffens who played his underhanded man, Dirk Sneath, was good, too.

Paul Hansen impressed us as the innocuous clean living character that hero Truman Pendennis is supposed to be. His pal, Harold Stanfast, played by Jack Lynch was even better in his portrayal of mid-Victorian virtue.

Iva Hamilton is almost too desirable and healthy in a quiet sort of a way to play to prim, coy heroinne, Prudence Hopewell.

But perhaps this is realism, for we suspect that, even in that era, women knew the value of arousing instincts, the mention of which shocked them.

Her mother, played by Lyn McKee, could have been Whistler's own and was beautifully dull.

WE HAVE A WARM spot in our heart for Ruth Cole who was magnificent as the villianess, the fallen, but human, woman, Carlotta Cortez.

Her maid, Fifi, likewise fallen, is well done by Marylyn Hansen, as is Fred Wheelright ,honest workman, by Keith Lynn.

Minor roles were well handled by Jan Hamilton, Mae Mashuca and Lennie Liebowitz.

In a bar scene, Barbara Hunter strolls across the stage singing "Frankie and Johnnie." Her rendition was good in spots and magnificent in others — in fact it was good to the point of being out of place in a farce.

Buster Mair must have had a tough job rounding the 17 scene opus into shape and it was in shape, last Friday night.

JAN HAMILTON, set designer, did well with the simple, clean sets used.

Janet Coop played piano for the production, well and in character.

The Olio that followed used the talents of almost everybody, and turned out as you might expect — spotty. Excellent in spots, it was adequate in others and even less at times.

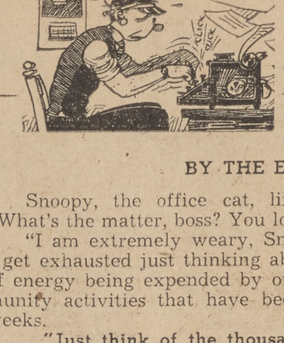
The program lists the following as participants: Dan Welty, master of ceremonies; Marylyn Hansen, Lylas Lynn, Ellen Hansen, Lyn McKee, John Alex, Paul Hansen, Ruth Cole, Jack Lynch, Jack Holder, Naida Hickox, Dan Welty, Ruth Cole, Barbara Weill, Edith Lynn, Keith Lynn, John Alex, Fern McHale, Barbara Hunter and Buster Mair.

Mrs. Hall Named 4-H Secretary

Mrs. Will Hall of Lafayette was elected treasurer of the Contra Costa 4-H Club Council at a meeting recently in Cowell.

Other officers elected were from astern sections of the county. Ralph Strudwick of Antioch was namd president.

Jose Matafoma, a native of Portugal and International Farm Youth Exchange student, was guest speaker. He discussed agriculture in Portugal.



Under The Sun

By THE EDITOR

BY THE EDITOR

Snoopy, the office cat, lifted her head and purred, "What's the matter, boss? You look completely exhausted!"

"I am extremely weary, Snoopy, and I'll tell you why. I get exhausted just thinking about the tremendous amount of energy being expended by our people in the many community activities that have been reactivated the past few weeks.

"Just think of the thousands of our neighbors who are doing a darn fine job in the many local organizations — school, church, nursery school, improvement clubs ,women's groups, fraternal and service clubs, scout and other youth groups, philanthropies, non-paid governmental bodies and so on. And think of the work that goes into our ever-present fund drives."

Looking impressed, Snoopy said, "Why not say hats off to all these people?"

"That's exactly what we're doing. These neighbors spend hours and days each week to make our community a better place in which to live. They get no reward, in most cases, except an inner satisfaction of a job well done. So, hats off—to you and your neighbor."

A memo from Dick

Dick Osborn, SUN reporter who lives in Sun Valley, yesterday handed me this memo:

"Herm: Idea for "Under the Sun" column some week. I have been very impressed with the parents, especially fathers, who are taking their kids up to the mountains and on fishing trips, either 'man to man' or as a family group. They all say it is real good for the kids and I'm sure the fathers get more of a bang out of it than the kids.

"They start 'em young . . . 6 and 7, and it strikes me as a good idea. Juvenile problems don't arise in families where the fathers take their kids on fishing and camping trips. What do you think? Dick."

There's certainly no comment needed here.

This stops 'em

More and more items are being sent through the mails unsolicited and followed by threatening letters if remittance for these items has not been made. A friend of mine solves the problem in a unique manner.

When the book, package or ties or any article arrives, he sets it to one side, awaiting the letter that demands payment. He replies that he will return the unsolicited merchandise sent to him upon receipt of a packaging and hanlding fee of $1.50, or will turn the merchandise over to any authorized representative of the firm who calls at his office within a reasonable time.

Merchandise received under such circumstances need not be returned, nor it is necessary to remit payment.

If the sender resorts to threatening letters, the Post Office Department will investigate. Don't acknowledge reciept of the letters, just turn them over to the post office.

Look at them now . . .

Right this minute, open your wallet. Pull out the $1 bills. Turn to The SUN'S front page and compare the serial numbers listed with those on your bucks.

Who knows? — you may have a SUN Lucky Buck, worth $25 to $5.

It's a readership-building stunt that daily newspapers have used this summer. It seemed like fun, so we decided to play, too.

Take this test in a month

The National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools sends out an interesting release:

"You wouldn't fail your own child, would you?

"You may be doing just that, however, if you have to answer YES to any of these questions:

"1. Are you failing to support your PTA, Mothers or Dads' Clubs?

"2. Are you neglecting to take an active part in school programs?

"3. Have you failed to meet your children's teachers?

"4. Have you been "too busy" to attend the meetings of your school board?

"5. Did you forget to vote in the last school board election?"

Why don't we all take this test in a month or so and see how we do?
